

WEDDING INVITATION INSERTION

Dear beloved invitee

Over the years we are sure you must have had numerous Wedding invitations through your letter-box. They, as you know, come in many shapes and sizes. Enclosed is yet another wedding invitation but with a difference.

Before sending out this invitation, we thought long and hard of all the relatives, friends and family we'd want to invite.

We wanted to invite everyone that we thought held a special place in our lives. The type of people we share our joys and sorrows with. The ones we are comfortable with. We would be happy to introduce them as 'one of ours'.

These days, when we want to make the most of what 'money can buy' ~ so as to provide the best comforts of life for our guests ~ we hope you will appreciate our efforts. Our guests, we know, will be anxious and curious to want to know why our weddings are so involved. What the meaning behind Hindu wedding really is? What they, their children, friends and relatives like to know but are unable to explain.

Within the limited number of guests we are permitted to invite, YOU are that special one selected to celebrate the Big Day of

Bride - & - Groom

We look forward to a confirmation of your attendance.

Bride's father & mother Groom's father & mother

PS: It is our request and we feel certain that you will observe silence during the short ceremony to be conducted by Bhasmank Mehta
